

CONTRIBUTORS

Azlan Shah Nabees Khan is the CEO of ARBA International Waqf (L) Foundation, Putrajaya, Malaysia. He holds a Master's Degree in Islamic Studies from Universiti Kebangsaan Malaysia (UKM). His research interests include legal implications of conversion to Islam and peaceful co-existence among multi-religious and multiethnic communities. He is also actively involved in philanthropic endeavours working on social interventions to improve children's development in low-income families.

Chin Yee Whah is a Professor in Economic Sociology at the School of Social Sciences, Universiti Sains Malaysia (USM). He received international grants from SEASREP, Toyota Foundation (1998) and CRISE, University of Oxford (2006). He was a visiting research fellow at the East Asian Institute, National University of Singapore (2007), affiliate fellow at the International Institute for Asian Studies, Amsterdam (2007), research fellow at the Asia Research Centre, Copenhagen Business School (2010), and recipient of Taiwan Fellowship (2019). He is an Adjunct Professor at New Era University College. He is currently a Council Member of the Academy of Professors Malaysia, and an editorial board member for Southeast Asian Social Science Review, Kajian Malaysia and Malaysian Journal of Chinese Studies.

Collin Jerome is a senior lecturer at the Faculty of Language and Communication, Universiti Malaysia Sarawak (UNIMAS). He holds a PhD in English literature from the University of Sussex. His areas of expertise are literary and language studies, identity, queer, and human rights and peace education.

Esther John Perry is a lecturer at the School of Foundation Studies, Swinburne University of Technology Sarawak. She holds a Master of Arts (Literature) from UNIMAS. Her personal academic interests are in the area of second language acquisition and cultural and gender studies. In particular, she is interested with the gender roles of the Iban community in Sarawak.

Hui Min Low is a speech-language therapist and associate professor in special education programme at the School of Educational Studies, USM. Her research interests include childhood multilingualism and early language development.

Khalidah Khalid Ali is a former senior lecturer at the Department of Management and Humanities, Universiti Teknologi PETRONAS (UTP), Malaysia. She holds a PhD in Social Science and Humanities from UTP (2019) and a Master of Science in Industrial Relations and Personnel Management from University of London

(London School of Economics and Political Science, 1983). Prior to being an academic, she served PETRONAS for 17 years, assuming roles in human resource management and retail marketing. Her research interests include interdisciplinary social science and cultural studies, and value-based studies related to ethics and morality in the global business.

Mary Fatimah Subet is a senior lecturer currently serving in the Faculty of Language and Communication, UNIMAS. She is active in writing, publishing and conducting research in areas related to language and linguistics specifically focusing on semantics, pragmatics, Sarawak Malay dialect, the teaching and learning of Malay as the first language, and Malay literature.

Mohammad Khairi Mokthar is a lecturer at the Dance Department, Faculty of Creative Arts, Universiti Malaya (UM). He graduated with a Master of Fine Arts in Dance Performance from the Korea National University of Arts, South Korea. He performed with the Shobana Jeyasingh Dance Company in England from 2012 to 2013 and with ASK Dance Company and TFA Inner Space Dance Company in Malaysia. Currently he is pursuing his PhD at the Faculty of Creative Arts, UM. His current research focuses on Tari Terinai, a classical Malay dance form from Perlis.

Mohd Al Adib Samuri is an associate professor at the Faculty of Islamic Studies and Deputy Director of the Institute of Islam Hadhari, UKM. He holds a Bachelor Degree in Law (L.LB), Master in Law (L.LM) and PhD from UKM. His research interests include Islamic law and society, Islam and human rights, especially freedom of religion and children's rights. He has been actively engaged in many research projects at the university and national level funded by UKM, international agencies, Islamic authorities and government agencies.

Mohd Firdaus Che Yaacob is a senior lecturer in the Malay literature department, Faculty of Creative Technology and Heritage at Universiti Malaysia Kelantan (UMK). He holds a PhD from UMK, Master of Arts and Bachelor Degree of Malay Literature from Universiti Putra Malaysia.

Mohd Muzhafar Idrus is an associate professor at Universiti Sains Islam Malaysia (USIM). His research interests include literature, ideological spectrums and popular culture. His work has appeared in Globalizations, Changing English, and Comparative Literature: East & West journals.

Mohd Khairi Ismail is a senior lecturer (Economics) at the Faculty of Business and Management, Universiti Teknologi MARA (UiTM) Cawangan Terengganu. His research area focuses on development economics, poverty and sustainability. Throughout his service in the field of economics research and teaching, he has successfully published 19 journal articles, 22 proceedings and conducted various economics and motivational seminars at both the university and school levels.

Muhammad Zaid Daud is a Malay Language Educator at the Centre for Language Learning, Universiti Teknikal Malaysia Melaka (UTeM). He holds a Bachelor of Arts (Linguistics) with Honours and Master of Arts in Linguistics from UNIMAS. Currently, he is pursuing his PhD in Applied Linguistics at the Faculty of Language and Communication, UNIMAS. His publication works are mainly in the field of semantics and pragmatics. His other research interests include Malay language and Malay literature focusing on traditional and modern prose.

Nor Zuriati Amani Ab Rani is a senior lecturer (Economics) and coordinator programme for Bachelor of Business Administration (Hons) Business Economics at the Faculty of Business and Management, UiTM Cawangan Kelantan. She holds a PhD from UKM. Her research area focuses on development economics, inclusive and sustainable development.

Nurhidayah Mohamed Hamidi is a dedicated teacher. She has a Bachelor and Master's Degree in Sharia with a specialisation in Islamic political science from UM. Her research area is on the administration of mualaf in Selangor and the Federal Territory, Malaysia.

Premalatha Thiagarajan is a senior lecturer and the Head of Dance Department at the Faculty of Creative Arts, UM. She holds a PhD in Critical Dance Studies from the University of California Riverside, USA, in 2012. She is the co-chief editor of Tirai Panggung (Journal of Performing Arts) and an editorial board member of Conversations Across the Field of Dance Studies. Her research interest focuses primarily on Indian dance practices in Malaysia, studied through the discourses of gender, ethnicity and globalisation. Her recent researches include dance therapy/rehabilitation for breast cancer survivors.

Raihanah M.M. is an associate professor of literary studies at the Faculty of Social Sciences and Humanities, UKM. She holds a PhD in Malaysian literature and multiculturalism. Her research interests include cultural diversity in fiction, minority fiction and Muslim narrative.

Rospidah Ghazali is a research fellow at the Institute for Environment and Development (LESTARI), UKM. She is a development economist by training and obtained her PhD from UM. She has conducted several research projects, which include sustainable agriculture, food security, inequality and income distribution. She is also experienced in conducting lectures on the subjects of resource and environmental economics, development and environment, and sustainability science.

San Li Kheioh is an early childhood educator in a private kindergarten in Penang, Malaysia. She holds a Master of Early Childhood Education from USM. Her research interest is play-based learning in preschool.

Sharifah Hayaati Syed Ismail al-Qudsy is an associate professor at the Department of Siasah Syar'iyah, Academy of Islamic Studies, UM. She holds a Bachelor of Sharia from UM, Master of Comparative Law from International Islamic University Malaysia and PhD in Administration and Policy Studies, 1998 from the University of Bristol, England. Her main research areas are Islamic governance, integrity and women leadership. She has produced more than 200 writings in books, journals and newspapers from various studies under local and international grants and industries. She was granted fellowship at the Oxford Centre for Islamic Studies under the Association of Commonwealth Universities (ACU Titular Fellowship) 2015. She received a Fulbright Visiting Specialist award in 2007.

Su-Hie Ting is a senior lecturer at the Faculty of Language and Communication, UNIMAS. She graduated from University of Queensland with a PhD in Applied Linguistics in 2001. Her research interests include language choice and identity, academic writing, communication strategies and health communication.

Tan Chee Seng is a senior lecturer of History, School of Humanities, USM. He obtained his doctorate in Chinese Studies (Chinese History) from the National University of Singapore in 2017, and both his MA (Southeast Asian History) and BA (Hons) from USM. He specialises in modern Chinese history and overseas Chinese history. His articles have been published in scholarly journals and books (in Chinese, English and Malay) such as the Asia-Pacific Forum, Kemanusiaan: The Asian Journal of Humanities, Kajian Malaysia, Wu Tiecheng and Modern China and Malaysia and the Cold War Era.