

CONTRIBUTORS

Abdul Basir Mohamad is a Professor at the Centre for Sharia Studies, Faculty of Islamic Studies, Universiti Kebangsaan Malaysia (UKM). He holds a PhD from the University of Edinburgh and a Bachelor of Arts (Hons) in Islamic Studies from UKM. His expertise and research interests include arts and applied arts; religion, policies and law. He is also an expert in comparative tort law and shariah criminal law.

Assis Kamu is an associate professor in the Mathematics with Economics Programme, Faculty of Science and Natural Resources, Universiti Malaysia Sabah (UMS). He earned a bachelor's degree (B.Econs) in Planning and Development Economics from UMS in 2004. He started working on a master's degree (M.Sc) in Economic Statistics in 2005. He obtained his PhD in 2016 in the field of Mathematics with Economics. His research interests include knowledge of applied economics, statistical modelling, socioeconomics, survey research method, and scale development.

Ashiqin Nordin currently works as a senior lecturer at the Faculty of Human Sciences, Universiti Pendidikan Sultan Idris (UPSI). She holds a PhD and a Master's degree in Social Work from Universiti Sains Malaysia (USM). During her PhD, her research focused on examining challenges and resilience among women with breast cancer and the significance of the role of medical social work in enhancing their well-being. Her research interests lie in social work in healthcare, with a focus on resilience and health promotion.

Doris Maying is a lecturer and the Programme Coordinator for the Fine Arts programme at Universiti Malaysia Sarawak (UNIMAS). She holds both a Master of Arts and a Bachelor of Applied Arts in Fine Arts from UNIMAS. Her work focuses on action-research in visual arts and cultural studies, including few projects that strongly emphasise on community art-based projects. Known for incorporating cultural knowledge into contemporary fine arts practices, Doris has exhibited her work in various showcases, highlighting her innovative approach in blending tradition and modernity in art.

Fauziah Md Taib is a Professor of Accounting and Finance at the School of Management, USM. Her research encompasses financial accounting and reporting, higher education policies, and sustainable financing. She is a key contributor to 'AaDab©, which integrates character education and values into the accounting curriculum.

Hishamudin Isam is an associate professor at the School of Languages, Civilisation, and Philosophy, Universiti Utara Malaysia (UUM). He holds a bachelor's and master's degrees from Universiti Malaya (UM) in Malay Studies (Language and Linguistics). He then pursued a PhD in Linguistics at the School of Language and Linguistics, UKM. His research interests include semantics and pragmatics, as well as Malay cultural studies. He is actively involved in research and publishing scholarly articles (journals and books), particularly related to language and media.

Jamilah Ahmad is a Professor at the School of Communication, USM. She holds a PhD from Deakin University, Australia, and a Master's in Science from Manchester Metropolitan University, United Kingdom. Jamilah's research interests include corporate social responsibility, sustainability, social responsibility and stakeholder engagement, public relations and stakeholder management, and the effect of social media on youth.

Jamilah Hani Esa is a curator at the Central Zone Office, National Heritage Department. She graduated with a Bachelor of Malay Studies from UM, and Master of Arts from USM. She is experienced as a research officer at the Centre for Policy Research and International Studies, USM. Throughout her service as a curator, she was directly involved in heritage research works for the purpose of national publication under the National Heritage Act 2005 (Act 645) or UNESCO recognition (World Heritage Site), harnessing conservation efforts and preservation of tangible and intangible heritage.

Mashetoh Abd Mutalib is an associate professor at the School of Languages, Civilisation, and Philosophy, UUM. She holds a bachelor's and master's degree in Malay Studies (Language and Linguistics) from UM. She then gained a PhD in Linguistics at the School of Language and Linguistics, UKM. Her research interests include sociolinguistics, as well as language and identity, urban dialectology, language variation, and Malay grammar. She is actively engaged in research and publication of scholarly articles (journals and books), particularly in the area of language and identity.

Mohammad Zaini Yahaya is a senior lecturer at Shariah Research Centre, Faculty of Islamic Studies, UKM. He holds a PhD in Fiqh and Usul, Islamic Revealed Knowledge, International Islamic University Malaysia (IIUM), a master's in Islamic Studies from UKM and a Bachelor of Arts (Hons) in Syariah, from Al-Azhar University. His expertise and research interests include arts and applied arts: religion (Islamic jurisprudence and principles of Islamic jurisprudence).

Mohd Alif Jasni is a senior lecturer at the School of Applied Psychology, Social Work and Policy, UUM. He holds two PhDs, one in Social Work from UKM (2023) and another in Criminal Justice from UM (2018). With a deep interest in the ex-prisoner and homeless communities, he has authored two books titled Kerja Sosial Pemulihan untuk Bekas Banduan (UM Press) and Kehidupan Gelandangan Bekas Banduan (UKM Press). Over his 10 years of research, he has conducted various studies on recidivism, drug abuse, and rehabilitation.

Mohd Faizal Kasmani is a former broadcast journalist at 8TV/TV9 in Malaysia (2004–2007), was awarded a Commonwealth scholarship in 2004 and earned his MA in Broadcast Journalism from the University of Sheffield. He later obtained his PhD in Arab, Islamic, and Middle Eastern Studies from the Australian National University. He is currently an associate professor in the Faculty of Leadership and Management at Universiti Sains Islam Malaysia (USIM), specialising in journalism, social media, and political communication.

Mohd Faizal Noor Ariffin is an Islamic education teacher at Sekolah Kebangsaan Sinaron Tengah, Keningau, Sabah, Malaysia. He holds a master in Islamic Studies (Shariah) from UKM and a Bachelor of Arts (Hons) in Fiqh and Usul Fiqh from IIUM. Currently, he is a PhD student in Islamic Studies (Shariah) at the Centre for Sharia Studies, Faculty of Islamic Studies, UKM. His research interests include education, waqf, rural schools and Islamic education in Malaysia.

Mohd Nazmi Mohd Khalli is a PhD candidate at the Islamic Studies Section, School of Humanities, USM in Usuluddin (Aqidah, Islamic philosophy, Da'wah). He earned a bachelor's degree in Usuluddin (Akidah dan Pemikiran Islam) from UM in 2019. Then, he obtained a Master of Arts in Islamic Studies from UMS in 2022. His research interests include comparative religion, Islamic thought, religion and society, and religious ethics.

Mohd Nazri Abdul Raji is a senior lecturer at the Faculty of Technical and Vocational, UPSI. He earned his doctoral degree in Food Service Management from Universiti Putra Malaysia (UPM) and his Master in Gastronomy from Universiti Teknologi MARA (UiTM). His research interests include traditional food culture, culinary art management, food and tourism, foodservice business management, and teaching and learning in Technical and Vocational Education and Training (TVET). He actively participates in national and international conferences and publishes articles in indexed journals.

Muna Maryam Azmy is a senior lecturer at UUM with expertise in tourism science and engineering mathematics. She completed her PhD in Tourism Science at Tokyo Metropolitan University in 2016. Her academic background includes a Master of Science in Engineering Mathematics and a Bachelor's Degree with Honours in Industrial Mathematics from Universiti Teknologi Malaysia (UTM). Her teaching experience encompasses research methodology in tourism and human resource management in tourism and hospitality. Her research and publications focus on the field of persons with disabilities.

Nadhirah Nordin is an associate professor at the Faculty of Contemporary Islam, Universiti Sultan Zainal Abidin (UniSZA). She specialises in Islamic property management, especially on waqf. Several articles have been published related to waqf from the perspective of development and Islamic law.

Nik Suhaida Nik Abdul Majid is a senior lecturer in the Da'wah and Islamic Management Programme, Faculty of Leadership and Management, USIM. She holds a PhD in Anthropology and Sociology from USM and a Master's degree in Usuluddin (Da'wah and Human Development) from UM. Her research interests include sociology, deviance and social control, Islamic sociology, sociology of da'wah, methodology of da'wah and human development. With a background in Islamic studies and social sciences, she is qualified to effectively integrate both branches of knowledge in her research.

Noorilham Ismail is a PhD student at the Department of History, Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, UM. He holds a Master of Arts and Bachelor of Arts from USM. His research interests include United States Modern History especially the involvement of the United States in the Falkland War 1982, the reaction of United States in the Malayan Emergency (1948–1960) and issues related to the Mufti of Johor during British imperialism.

Nor Suzylah Sohaimi is a senior lecturer specialising in urbanisation and regional development at the Department of Planning and Property Development, School of Government, UUM. Her academic background includes a doctorate degree in Built Environment from IIUM and a Master's degree in Urban Development and Management from UiTM. In addition to her current position, Nor Suzylah has held various significant roles in academia and research. Overall, Nor Suzylah's multifaceted roles and contributions underscore her dedication to advancing knowledge in urban and regional development, fostering community engagement, and promoting sustainable solutions to pressing societal issues.

Poline Bala is a Professor of Anthropology at the Faculty of Social Sciences and Humanities, UNIMAS. She is also the Director of the Institute of Borneo Studies. She holds a PhD in social anthropology from Cambridge University, and a Master of Arts from Cornell University, Ithaca. Her research spans a wide range of topics. This includes the anthropology of Bornean societies, and the formation of national identities in border regions of Borneo. She also investigates how indigenous peoples and local communities integrate new ideologies and technologies such as modernisation, development and elections into their unique political, economic, and sociocultural contexts.

Ridzuan Mohamad obtained a PhD in the field of Islamic studies at UniSZA. He served in the Terengganu Council of Islamic Religion and Malay Customs (MAIDAM) as assistant secretary of waqf and general resources. He also produced many articles about waqf such as the relationship with land law, syaraq law and administration.

Rohaya Md Ali is an associate professor at the School of Languages, Civilisation and Philosophy, UUM. She holds a PhD from USM and a Master of Arts from UM. Her research interests include traditional and modern Malay literature, as well as new media and the field of Malay Philology.

Sabri Sulaiman is a senior lecturer in sociology at UM, focuses on issues affecting vulnerable children and families. With a Bachelor's, Master's, and PhD from UM, his research addresses social deprivation and child well-being, particularly among Malaysia's street children. He developed a "Community-based Social Care Model" to improve their rights and well-being. Dr. Sabri blends sociological theory with practical interventions to tackle societal issues like violence and marginalisation. Active in applied research, consultancy, and community service, he contributes to local and international publications and policy development to promote systemic change and social justice.

Sarah Naemah Aman Leong is a versatile graphic designer with both a Master of Arts and a Bachelor of Applied Arts in Fine Arts from UNIMAS. Her research focuses on graphic design, fine arts, visual ethnography, and cultural heritage studies. Throughout her Master's programme, she actively participated in community-based art projects and exhibitions, integrating her graphic design expertise with fine arts techniques. This fusion allows her to create work that is both visually impactful and culturally meaningful.

Shahrim Ab Karim is a Professor of Malaysia Food Heritage and Culture at the Faculty of Food Science and Technology, UPM. He holds a PhD degree from Oklahoma State University and a Master of Business Administration from UiTM. Renowned for his expertise in the preservation and documentation of Malaysia's traditional culinary practices, he has also ventured into the realm of food tourism and the food destination image development. Professor Shahrim's work delves into the intricacies of Malaysian gastronomy with concentration towards the traditional food practices, cultural significance, and the environmental impact.

Soon Chuan Yean is a senior lecturer in the Political Science Section, School of Social Sciences, USM. He holds a PhD from the National University of Singapore and a Master in International Studies (Political Science) from Uppsala University, Sweden. His research interests include local politics in the Philippines, politics and society in Malaysia, politics of development, and democratisation processes.

Suraya Sintang is an associate professor in the Centre for the Promotion of Knowledge and Language Learning, UMS where she has been a faculty member since 1999. She completed her PhD at UM (2012) in the field of Dialogue of Civilisation, Master in Theology and Philosophy UKM (2002) and her undergraduate studies at IIUM (1996). Her research interests lie in the area of civilisation and contemporary issues related to the studies of inter-religious relations and socio-religious issues and ethnicity in Borneo.

Taufik Mohammad is an independent researcher. He earned his PhD and Master's degree in Social Work from USM. His specialisations include juvenile offenders and justice, victims of crime, and restorative justice. Additionally, he has developed an interest in sexual development among adolescents.

Viswanathan Selvaratnam is an Honorary Professor at the Asia-Europe Institute, UM. He holds a PhD and MA in Economics from University of Manchester, a Master of Arts from Delhi School of Economics, Delhi University and a BA (Hons) from University of Malaya in Singapore. His main research focus is on the South Indian labour force in the Malayan/Malaysian plantation economy and higher education policy issues in Malaysia.

Widayatmoko is an associate professor at the Tri Bhakti Business School Management, Bekasi-Indonesia. He holds a Master's in Management from Tarumanagara University and a Master's in Communication Science from Mercu Buana University. His research interests focus on communication and management science, which includes organisational communication, management, leadership, loyalty, and culture.

Yakup Mohd Rafee is an associate professor and deputy dean of Student Affairs and Alumni at the Faculty of Art, Sustainability, and Creative Industry, UPSI. He holds a PhD from the University of the West of England, an MFA from the Academy of Art University, and a Bachelor of Applied Arts from UNIMAS. His research spans fine arts, visual ethnography, and aboriginal culture studies. He is particularly interested in e-culture, cultural heritage digitisation, and Malaysian mythology, with numerous publications and ongoing research in these areas.

Yiing Jia Loke is a lecturer in the Economics Section, School of Social Sciences, USM. She holds a PhD and Master's degree from the University of Essex. Her research interests include consumer credit, financial literacy, consumer and household behaviour, and innovation in financial services.

Zurita Mohd Yusoff is an associate professor at the Faculty of Contemporary Islam, UniSZA. She specialises in Islamic property management, especially on waqf. Several articles have been published related to waqf from the perspective of development and Islamic law.